Taiwan Temple made famous

A tiathlon is a sports. The players must swim, bike, and run without stopping.

A 23-year-old Gustav from Norway won a triathlon in France this year. When he "reached" the finish line, he wore a cap from Taiwan's temple, 埔鹽順澤宮. He found this cool cap on the street of Japan. He decided to wear the cap for the race in France and won. Now many people think the cap gives good luck to him. That made this temple famous, so lots of people visited there and asked for "it."

Gustav talked about this story on IG and said, "I really love you Taiwan."
