She felt happy when she helped people.

One day, Michelle had a high fever and a bad headache. She stayed in the hospital for a week. "You take good care of others, but you never take good care of yourself," the doctor said to her. So, when she was healthy again, she left the big hospital and started to work in a small clinic.

Now, she works from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. only on weekdays. She swims every morning. On weekends, she sometimes helps me take care of the kids at my school or visits some old people's homes. She has a happy and healthy life now.
