四、閱讀測驗(6%, 一題2%), 請選出最能回答問句的合適選項。

1. A Successful Mistake - Post-it Notes

How does a mistake become a successful product? Post-it Notes are a good example. In 1968, a 3M worker, Spencer Silver was trying to make a very strong glue for building planes. However, he came up with something different. He made a very weak glue. At the time, nobody could think of a use for this weak glue, but he believed he would find a use for it one day. Many years later, another 3M worker, Arthur Fry had a problem of losing his notes in his church song book. He was tired of that. One day, an idea came into Arthur's mind. He remembered Spencer's glue and tried some on his bookmarks. It worked wonderfully! Arthur saw that his bookmarks stayed in place. To his surprise, he could easily take them away from the pages and stick them again. In 1974, the idea of Post-it Note was born, and Arthur then started making the notes with Silver's glue for 3M. Spencer, Arthur, and their team spent several years working to make sure the glue stayed on the piece of paper and not on the page. After a successful product test, Post-it Notes hit the market in 1980. Since then, Post-it Notes have become one of the most popular office products in the world. There are now more than 600 Post-it Note products sold in more than 100 countries. Have you ever used Post-it Notes? What do you think of this successful mistake?

- () 38. What is the topic of this reading?
 (A) Tips for making successful products.
 (B) Ways to stop making mistakes.
 (C) A successful worker in 3M.
 (D) The history of Post-it Notes.
