When movies were invented in 1895, there were no sound and no color in movies. People could see only black and white in movies. The sound they could hear is pieces of music played by the band in the theater. To make movies more interesting, actors needed to pull faces and dance at the same time. If there is something that should be known, the director wrote it down on the paper, and the actors might hold it to show it. In 1920, the first real sound movie was shown in America. Since then, fewer people watch movies with no sound. However, some directors still loved to make black-and-white movies without sound. They believed it was real art. Even today, some directors still make movies in this way.

Carl : Hey, Yana, you're good at solving puzzles, aren't you?

Yana : Yeah! Why do you ask?

Carl : I need people who are good at it because I'm trying to put a team together to take on an escape room.

Yana : Wait! What kind of room?

Carl : Escape Room. It's the name of a game that locks people inside a room that is made to look like a prison. They have to solve puzzles to get out before the set time is up.

Yana : Cool! Count me in! Who else have you invited?

Carl : At the moment, I have Vincent and Charlotte. They told me there was no problem that they couldn't solve.

Yana : You should also ask Sandy. She's really good at noticing things that other people often take no notice of.

Carl : I know. I planned to ask her after I get your answer.

Yana : Come to think of it, Boris loves playing these types of video games.

Dear Diary,

I'm sorry I've been too busy to talk to you in the past few days. I spent a lot of time preparing for my final exam, so I haven't had a chance to tell you what's going on in my life.

Well, it was finally over, and something really interesting and exciting happened to me today. I met my favorite writer at the bookstore 47 I usually visit. Her name is Lucinda Granger. In the past six years, she has published many books that readers can't get enough of. Many teenagers love them, 48.

I came to her and asked her 49. She smiled and said yes. I asked her how to become a writer. She told me to start by keeping a diary about my life because writers need to be good at writing down their thoughts. She also said 50 it's good for writers to share the thoughts with their readers, so I could also share my writings by posting them on the Internet.

After hearing that, I started writing to you on my computer soon after I got home. I hope I can be a great writer like her one day.
