Yawning

Why do people yawn? Some believe we are tired and need some air. Others think we are bored. Scientists believe people yawn to control the brain temperature.

It's interesting to know yawning is "contagious." When people see someone else yawn for five seconds, they start yawning, too. In fact, it is difficult for people not to yawn when someone near them is yawning. Sometimes when a person yawns, his cat, dog or bird yawns, too.

Yawning is interesting, isn't it?

The earth is getting warmer with more and more greenhouse gases in the atmosphere. To better understand how greenhouse gases heat up our earth, we should first know (32). A greenhouse is a special house made of glass for plants. It holds the heat of the sun so that the plants inside can grow better. Some gases in the atmosphere work like a greenhouse and can keep the heat of the sun, so we call them greenhouse gases. Greenhouse gases help our earth stay (33) for animals and plants. In fact, (34).

There is, however, a big problem. More greenhouse gases than our earth needs are entering the atmosphere because of the way we live. (35), with a great number of cars, there is too much CO₂, a common greenhouse gas, and farm animals give off a lot of CH₄, another greenhouse gas. If we want to "cool down" our earth, a good start is to change our way of life, like driving less and eating less meat.
