Each country has its national flag, and usually there is a story behind each national flag. The national flag of the United Kingdom tells an interesting story, too.

The UK has four parts. They are England, Wales, Scotland, and Northern Ireland. They all have their own flags. When Wales became part of England in 1542, the flag of England was the one used — nothing was changed. However, in 1603, when Scotland joined England to become a new country, the two national flags were put together to have a new flag. The last member, Ireland, joined the kingdom in 1801, and it was in that year that the modern flag we see today appeared. In 1992, however, parts of Ireland left the kingdom to become a new country. It also started to use its own flag.

The United Kingdom

() 36. Which is true about how the UK got its national flag?

- (A)  +  =  (B)  +  =
- (C)  +  =  (D)  +  =

() 37. Which is NOT true?

- (A) The whole Ireland still belongs to (屬於) the UK.
 (B) The UK got the modern flag in 1801.
 (C) Scotland became part of the UK in 1603.
 (D) When Wales became part of England in 1542, it still used the flag of England.

() 38. Which is said about Ireland?

- (A) It has used the national flag of the UK since it joined the kingdom.
 (B) It was the first member to join the United Kingdom.
 (C) The old Ireland flag can still be seen in today's national flag of the UK.
 (D) Part of it became a new country, and part of Scotland did, too.

Different Table Manners Around the World

Table manners are so different around the world. When you are having dinner as a tourist, you always have to be careful. As the saying goes, "When in Rome, do as the Romans do." You can learn some dos and don'ts about these countries.

Japan: When you are eating ramen (Japanese noodles), you can make a loud noise. It's not polite to give tips.

China: You use chopsticks at almost every meal. Don't put your chopsticks vertically in your bowl. That means food for dead people.

India: It's clean to use your right hand to enjoy food; while you use your left hand after going to bathroom. Of course, you can use a spoon for hot soup.

Italy: Italy is a country for pizza lovers. But remember, don't ask for more cheese on your pizza. Italian cooks need you to respect them and their food.

Brazil: Never touch your food with your hands even with French fries. You have to eat pizzas and hamburgers with a fork and a knife.

manner 禮儀 tourist 觀光者 vertically 直立地

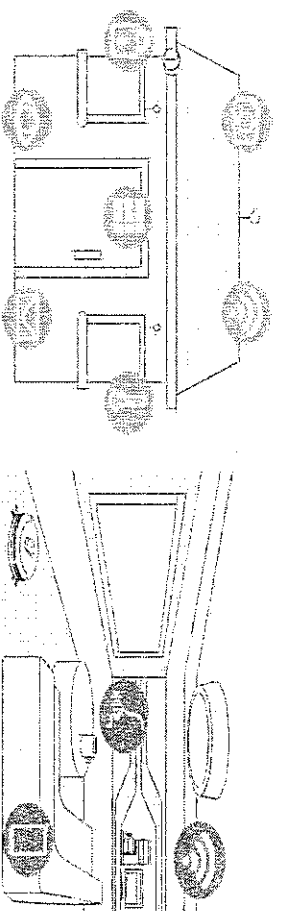

() 39. Which is a BAD thing to do in these countries?

- A. Enjoy your pizza with forks in Italy.
 B. Put your chopsticks beside your bowl.
 C. Eat food with your clean right hand in Brazil.
 D. Eat noodles very loudly in Japanese restaurant.

() 40. Why do Chinese not like people to put chopsticks vertically?

- A. It's not clean and polite to their family and friends.
 B. It doesn't show respect to someone prepared the food.
 C. It doesn't respect the food prepared with all heart.
 D. It might be a bad future sign of someone's death.
