

The image features a vibrant red background. In the upper corners, there are dark, gnarled branches adorned with several bright yellow flowers, each with a dark center. Hanging from these branches are two red lanterns on each side. The lanterns have a ribbed design and are decorated with yellow tassels. In the center, the text "Happy Chinese New Year" is written in a large, bold, yellow font. Below the main text, there is a small, faint watermark that reads "©WishesMsg.com".

Happy Chinese New Year

©WishesMsg.com

YEAR OF THE TIGER

Chinese New Year 2022

Red Envelope

Dishes in Taiwan

Family

Wearing red will bring good luck.

Chicken Soup

Duck

Fagao – steamed cake

Fish

Long Life vegetable

Pork leg

Buddha jump over the wall.... Very delicious

Lalou....dried pork. It's salty and fatty.

Tang yuen - Rice balls

Robo gau – Radish with rice will bring you luck.

Neun Gau – Sticky rice cake

Shang tsang - suasages

Orange

Apple

Dishes from Japan

Toshikoshi Soba

Mochi brings good fortune

Datemaki - sweet rolled omelet

Kabu-no-sunomono – pickled turnip

Osechi - assortment of food

Dishes from Vietnam

Banh chung (Vietnamese Square Sticky rice cake)

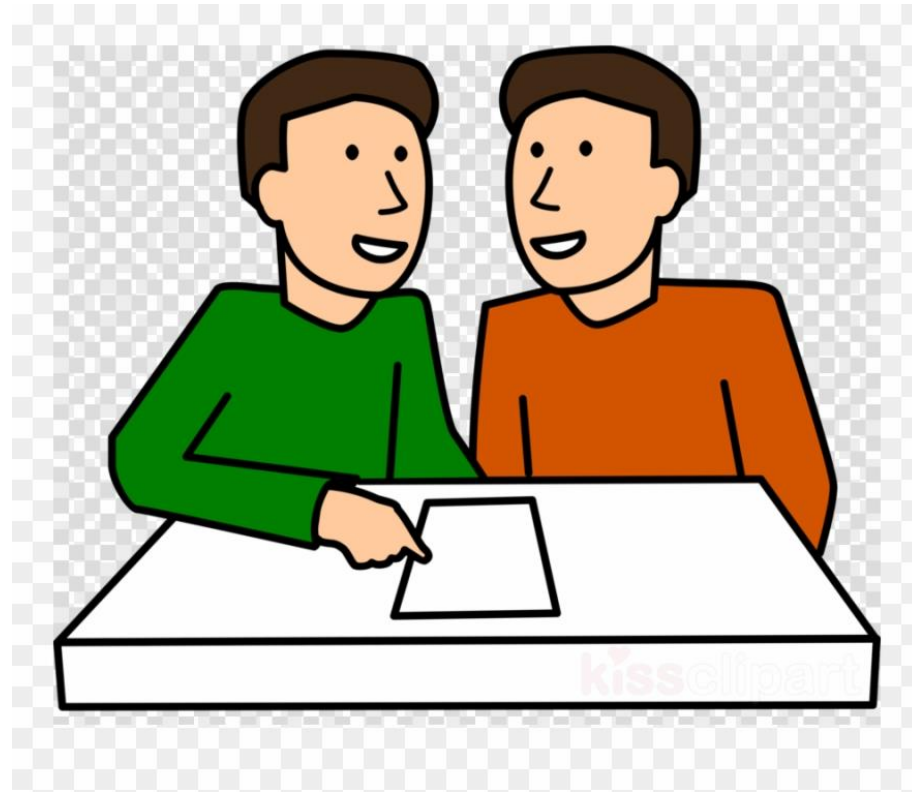

Rice cake

Bitter melon Stuffed With Meat Soup

Create your own dish for your family

Dishes from other countries

Pickled Herring, Poland

King cake, around the globe

Austria and Germany – Good luck pigs

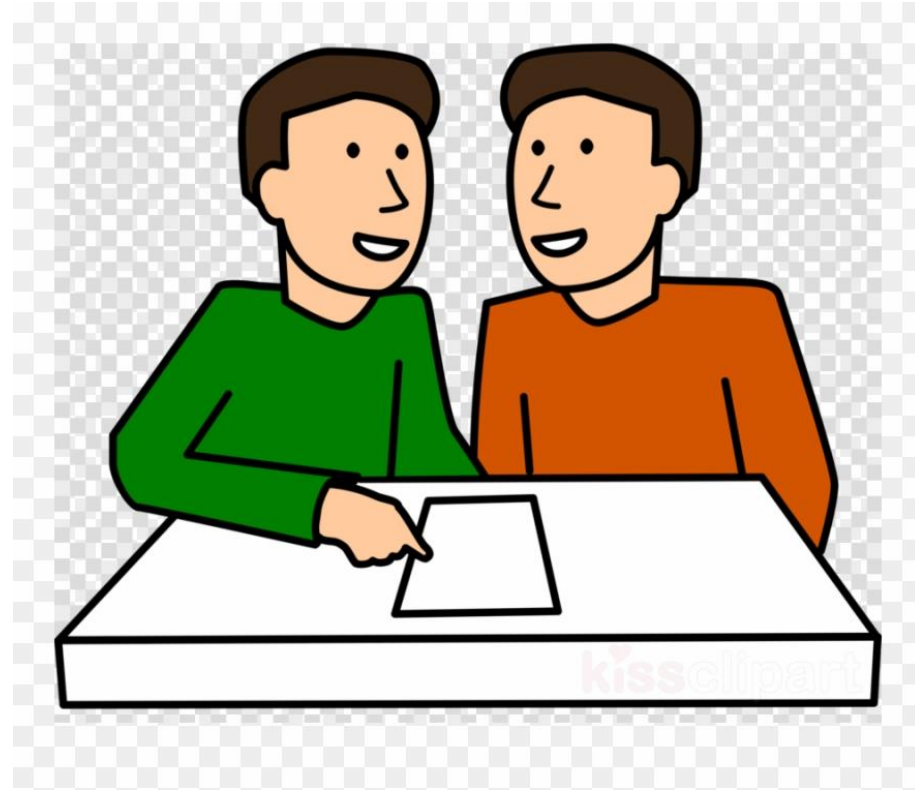

Tamales, Mexico - corn dough stuffed with meat, cheese and other delicious additions and wrapped in a banana leaf

Twelve grapes, Spain –
One grape every time they hear the clock bell

Discuss with your friend

1. What do you eat on Chinese new Year's eve?
2. What would you like to eat on Chinese new Year's eve?

Chinese New Year Traditions

Spring Cleaning

New clothes (preferably red)

Family gatherings

Spring couplets (red scrolls)

Fireworks

Don't break things – will bring bad luck

Don't argue or fight

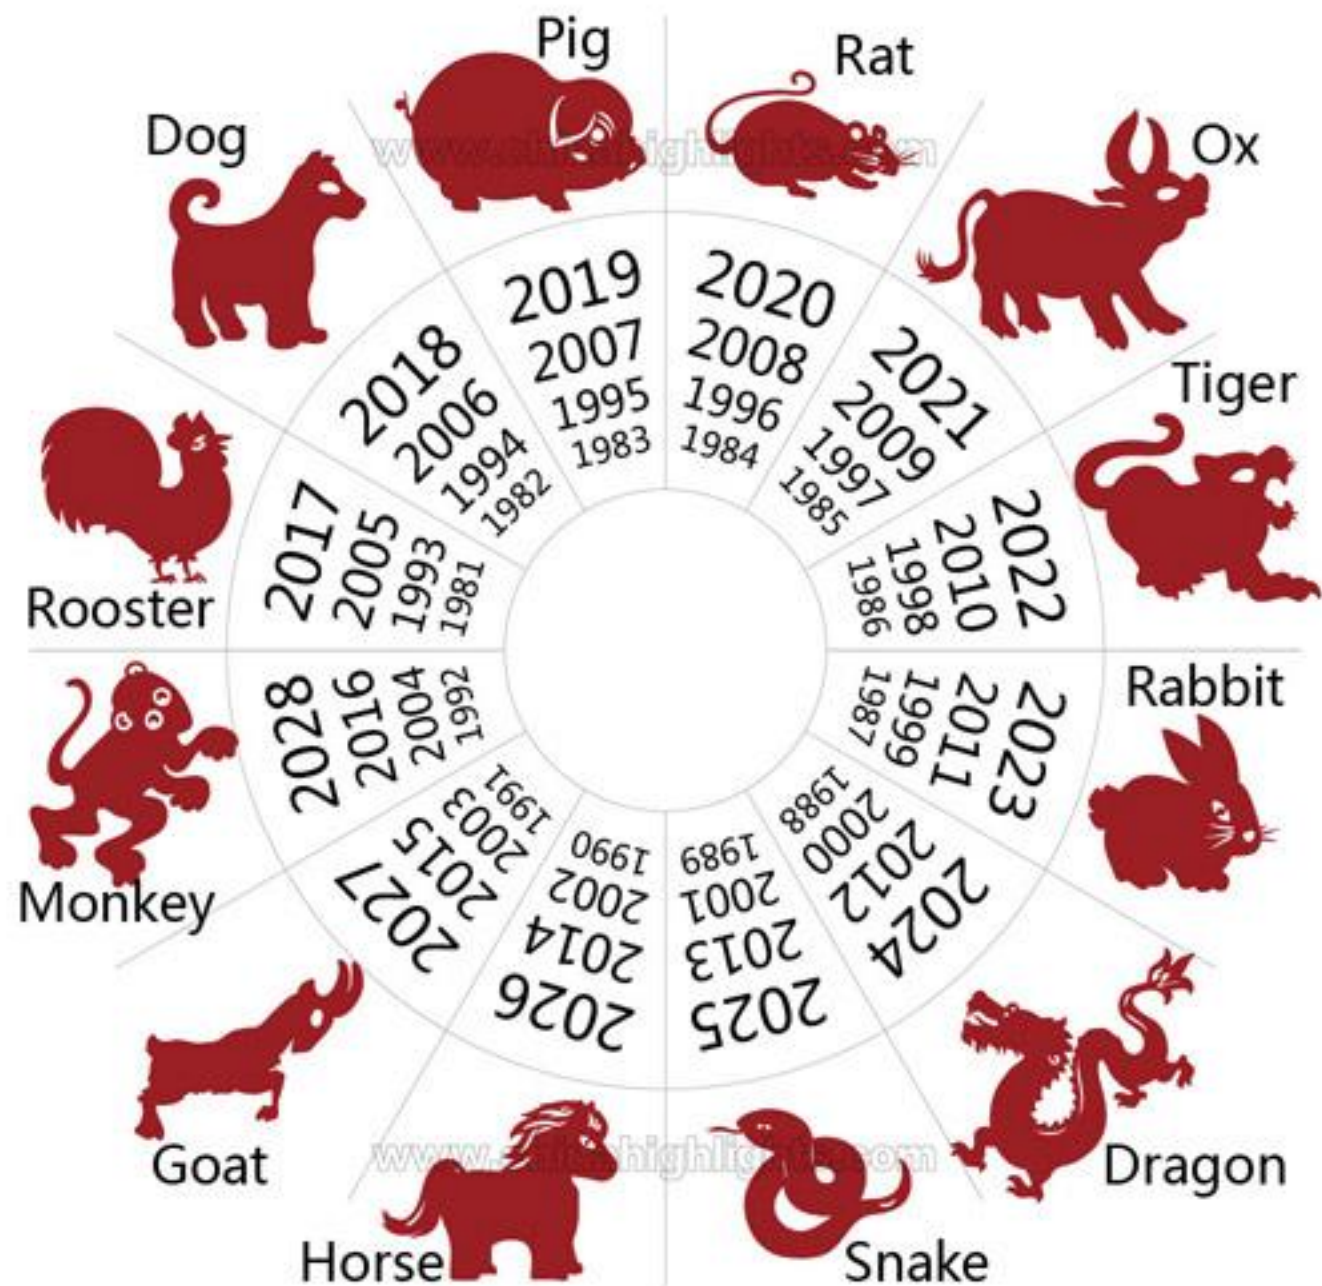

Don't finish the fish when you eat

Eat dumplings because it will bring money

Chinese New Year Signs

Chinese New Year activities

sing

Board games

Chatting with friends and family

Chinese chess

Watch TV

Eating cookies and candy

What do you and your family do?

Why is Chinese New Year celebrated?

